Memo to File:

Re: Probe Mine - ACT/015/011
Emery County, Utah

This mine was inspected on the 21st of September by Brian Buck and myself.

Work is underway here driving a shaft to reach the uranium ore zone. Work appears to be proceeding according to the previously approved mining and reclamation plan. Water discharge here will be handled in conjunction with Atlas' Snow Mine.

The diversion ditch which re-routes any runoff around the operation is in, and is functioning properly. Waste rock is being deposited in the previously planned location and amounts to about 1/3 acre in total area presently. The power substation is in, and operating. The fence posts have been installed and await fencing to enclose the operation.

In general, the project is proceeding in an organized manner with few problems.

One item which does need attention is the trash pit, which at this time is merely an area in the corner of the operation where trash (cans, etc.) has been dumped and burned. Atlas will be contacted on this problem.
